I thought Death on the Black Sea by Douglas Frantz was an extremely interesting book. It reminds me of today and how politics and power get in the way of humanity and doing what is right. The Jewish people on the Struma did not have to die. I can not believe the ship was pulled out into the Black Sea with a disabled engine and set adrift.

The Black Sea is a body of water, located in western Eurasia. Depending on the view, it can be classified as either the world's largest inland body of water (surpassing the Caspian Sea), or a marginal sea. It is supplied by major rivers, principally the Danube, Dnieper, Southern Bug, Dniester, Don, and Rioni. The watersheds of many countries drain into the sea beyond the six that share its coast.
