His deeds are the overflow of his joy. This is what it means when the Scripture says that God does something according to the "good pleasure" of his will. It means that nothing outside God's own pleasure "the pleasure he has in what he is, nothing but that pleasure" has constrained his choices and his deeds. God Does Whatever He Pleases

It is the starting-point of every choice and of every aversion, and to it we come back, inasmuch as we make feeling the rule by which to judge of every good thing. And since pleasure is our first and native good, for that reason we do not choose every pleasure whatever, but often pass over many pleasures when a greater annoyance ensues from them.

Question: "Is it wrong for a married couple to have sex just for pleasure?" Answer: The Bible is straightforward about the origin of sex: God created the two genders, and human sexuality, including all its physical, emotional, and spiritual intricacies, is God's invention. Of course, sexual intercourse serves to perpetuate the human race, but sex has more than a utilitarian purpose.

It follows from this conception of pleasure that every instance of pleasure must be good to some extent. For how could an unimpeded activity of a natural state be bad or a matter of indifference? On the other hand, Aristotle does not mean to imply that every pleasure should be chosen.

~~Aristotle's Ethics (Stanford Encyclopedia of Philosophy)~~

pleasure as a hermeneutic, interpretative activity, which is shaped by the reader's expectations and experiences as well as by the social contexts in which it takes place (e.g. Graff, 1992). But reading for pleasure is so much more than just a form of play or escapism – it is also a way of connecting with text.

Every decision you make results in at least one or more of the following: short term pain, long term pain, short term pleasure or long term pleasure. Short term always wins over long term unless there is a substantial amount of pain or pleasure associated with the long term avoidance of pain or gain of pleasure involved.

Epicureanism argued that pleasure was the chief good in life. Hence, Epicurus advocated living in such a way as to derive the greatest amount of pleasure possible during one's lifetime, yet doing so moderately in order to avoid the suffering incurred by overindulgence in such pleasure. Emphasis was placed on pleasures of the mind rather than on physical pleasures.
